

APRIL WALKER

MOJITOS AND MUNCHKINS

about the blogger

April is a proud midwestern momma of three. Together with her family, she loves to travel, spend time exploring local adventures in Minnesota, and documenting moments in photographs and videos (even if it takes months until she gets around to editing!). As a writer, April is passionate about sharing stories that are near and dear to her heart. As a photographer, she is constantly striving to learn more and challenge herself with new techniques.

about the blog

Mojitos and Munchkins started as a witty mom blog that shared real life moments with their readers. It has sense grown to include travel, inspirational finds, well researched answers to questions you haven't yet realized you had, and currently has an average of 27.8K monthly views through the website and social media platforms. Mojitos and Munchkins enjoys working with brands and guest writers to showcase amazing products and top notch writing.
